AUTHOR INDEX

Ainger, F., Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Ashley, T., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
Babu, N. J., Germanium aspheric singlet lens for earth sensor applications, 180
Baker, I. M., Photovoltaic CdHgTe—silicon hybrid focal planes, 121
Ballingall, R. A., Photovoltaic CdHgTe—silicon hybrid focal planes, 121
Barney, J., New development in NDT infrared thermographic techniques help assess flaw delaminations in flight hardware, 201
Biegel, Joseph D., Radiometric calibration and image processing of Landsat TM data to improve assessment of thermal signatures, 193
Braim, S. P., Performance improvements to the UK Class II common modules thermal imager, 113
Campbell, A. P., Performance improvements to the UK Class II common modules thermal imager, 113
Carson, John C., Infrared mosaic technology—where have we been, where are we now, where are we going, 79
Champagne, Edwin B., Saturation currents and photocurrents in three-dimensional photodiodes (Addendum 1), 222
Crose, Edward F., Spectrally selective shutter mechanism, 10
Dean, A. B., Photoconductive detectors employing an optically induced nonlinearity, 149
Dean, R. J., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
Decker, H., New development in NDT infrared thermographic techniques help assess flaw delaminations in flight hardware, 201
Elliott, C. T., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
———, Photoconductive detectors employing an optically induced nonlinearity, 149
Finlay, W. Mark, Infrared flight simulation using computer generated imagery, 89
Flinchbaugh, David E., High resolution optical telescope for Fourier transform spectroscopy in infrared radiation field (Cancelled), 229
Garber, Wilbur A., Spectrally selective shutter mechanism, 10
Geist, J., New technological opportunities for infrared radiometry (Cancelled), 229
Gibb, Owen L., Spectrally selective shutter mechanism, 10
Gooding, J., Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Goss, A. J., Progress in IR television using the pyroelectric vidicon, 154
Hasan, W., Infrared window coatings for sensor systems, 34
Hodor, J., New development in NDT infrared thermographic techniques help assess flaw delaminations in flight hardware, 201
Jain, Y. K., Germanium aspheric singlet lens for earth sensor applications, 180
Jamieson, John A., Infrared technology: advances 1975-84, challenges 1985-94, 56
Jarem, John M., Proposed molecular transmission band models for LOWTRAN, 164
———, A transmittance model for atmospheric methane, 94
Johns, M. D., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
Karayan, Wahe W., High resolution optical telescope for Fourier transform spectroscopy in infrared radiation field (Cancelled), 229
Klein, Harold J., Consistency in time and frequency domains in presentation of measured infrared background data, 171
Leftwich, Richard F., Multi-detector thermal imagers, 69
Marshall, S. J., Thermal (2-5.6 μm) emittance of diathermanous materials as a function of optical depth, critical angle and temperature, 209
McHugh, Stephen, Devices for measuring MTFs in the infrared, 2
Munis, R. H., Thermal (2-5.6 μm) emittance of diathermanous materials as a function of optical depth, critical angle and temperature, 209
Neugebauer, G., First scientific results from the Infrared Astronomical Satellite (IRAS), 84
Ng, William W., A transmittance model for atmospheric methane, 94
Nixon, R. D., Progress in IR television using the pyroelectric vidicon, 154
Pedder, D., Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Peng, Gung-Shoong, Proposed molecular transmission band models for LOWTRAN, 164
Persky, M. J., Application of infrared spectroscopy for monitoring the performance of industrial flares, 184
Pierluissi, Joseph H., Proposed molecular transmission band models for LOWTRAN, 164
———, A transmittance model for atmospheric methane, 94
Porter, S., Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Pulliam, Kenneth, Devices for measuring MTFs in the infrared, 2
Rao, D. V. B., Germanium aspheric singlet lens for earth sensor applications, 180
Schmieder, David E., An experiment quantifying the effect of clutter on target detection, 26
Schooler, Richard B., Calculated detectivity of Schottky barrier detectors (SBDs), 49
Schott, John R., Radiometric calibration and image processing of Landsat TM data to improve assessment of thermal signatures, 193
Shimer, Steven E., Inflight resolution evaluation for thermal imaging systems, 42
Smith, D. A., Performance improvements to the UK Class II common modules thermal imager, 113
Smith, D. S., Optimization of indium antimonide detectors for use at liquid helium temperatures, 21
Soifer, B. T., First scientific results from the Infrared Astronomical Satellite (IRAS), 84
Spellicy, R. L., Application of infrared spectroscopy for monitoring the performance of industrial flares, 184
Tilsley, G. John, Focal plane architectures and their applicability to advanced imaging seeker systems, 130
Walker, Russell G., On orbit performance of Infrared Astronomical Satellite (IRAS) (Cancelled), 229
Watton, R., Progress in IR television using the pyroelectric vidicon, 154
———, Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Weathersby, Marshall R., An experiment quantifying the effect of clutter on target detection, 26
———, Infrared flight simulation using computer generated imagery, 89
White, A. M., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
———, Photoconductive detectors employing an optically induced nonlinearity, 149
Wiemokly, Gary D., Spectrally selective shutter mechanism, 10
Wimmers, J. T., Optimization of indium antimonide detectors for use at liquid helium temperatures, 21
Wotherspoon, J. T. M., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
Wreathall, W. M., Progress in IR television using the pyroelectric vidicon, 154
Zalewski, E., New technological opportunities for infrared radiometry (Cancelled), 229

AUTHOR INDEX

Ainger, F., Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Ashley, T., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
Babu, N. J., Germanium aspheric singlet lens for earth sensor applications, 180
Baker, I. M., Photovoltaic CdHgTe—silicon hybrid focal planes, 121
Ballingall, R. A., Photovoltaic CdHgTe—silicon hybrid focal planes, 121
Barney, J., New development in NDT infrared thermographic techniques help assess flaw delaminations in flight hardware, 201
Biegel, Joseph D., Radiometric calibration and image processing of Landsat TM data to improve assessment of thermal signatures, 193
Braim, S. P., Performance improvements to the UK Class II common modules thermal imager, 113
Campbell, A. P., Performance improvements to the UK Class II common modules thermal imager, 113
Carson, John C., Infrared mosaic technology—where have we been, where are we now, where are we going, 79
Champagne, Edwin B., Saturation currents and photocurrents in three-dimensional photodiodes (Addendum 1), 222
Crose, Edward F., Spectrally selective shutter mechanism, 10
Dean, A. B., Photoconductive detectors employing an optically induced nonlinearity, 149
Dean, R. J., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
Decker, H., New development in NDT infrared thermographic techniques help assess flaw delaminations in flight hardware, 201
Elliott, C. T., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
———, Photoconductive detectors employing an optically induced nonlinearity, 149
Finlay, W. Mark, Infrared flight simulation using computer generated imagery, 89
Flinchbaugh, David E., High resolution optical telescope for Fourier transform spectroscopy in infrared radiation field (Cancelled), 229
Garber, Wilbur A., Spectrally selective shutter mechanism, 10
Geist, J., New technological opportunities for infrared radiometry (Cancelled), 229
Gibb, Owen L., Spectrally selective shutter mechanism, 10
Gooding, J., Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Goss, A. J., Progress in IR television using the pyroelectric vidicon, 154
Hasan, W., Infrared window coatings for sensor systems, 34
Hodor, J., New development in NDT infrared thermographic techniques help assess flaw delaminations in flight hardware, 201
Jain, Y. K., Germanium aspheric singlet lens for earth sensor applications, 180
Jamieson, John A., Infrared technology: advances 1975-84, challenges 1985-94, 56
Jarem, John M., Proposed molecular transmission band models for LOWTRAN, 164
———, A transmittance model for atmospheric methane, 94
Johns, M. D., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
Karayan, Wahe W., High resolution optical telescope for Fourier transform spectroscopy in infrared radiation field (Cancelled), 229
Klein, Harold J., Consistency in time and frequency domains in presentation of measured infrared background data, 171
Leftwich, Richard F., Multi-detector thermal imagers, 69
Marshall, S. J., Thermal (2-5.6 μm) emittance of diathermanous materials as a function of optical depth, critical angle and temperature, 209
McHugh, Stephen, Devices for measuring MTFs in the infrared, 2
Munis, R. H., Thermal (2-5.6 μm) emittance of diathermanous materials as a function of optical depth, critical angle and temperature, 209
Neugebauer, G., First scientific results from the Infrared Astronomical Satellite (IRAS), 84
Ng, William W., A transmittance model for atmospheric methane, 94
Nixon, R. D., Progress in IR television using the pyroelectric vidicon, 154
Pedder, D., Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Peng, Gung-Shoong, Proposed molecular transmission band models for LOWTRAN, 164
Persky, M. J., Application of infrared spectroscopy for monitoring the performance of industrial flares, 184
Pierluissi, Joseph H., Proposed molecular transmission band models for LOWTRAN, 164
———, A transmittance model for atmospheric methane, 94
Porter, S., Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Pulliam, Kenneth, Devices for measuring MTFs in the infrared, 2
Rao, D. V. B., Germanium aspheric singlet lens for earth sensor applications, 180
Schmieder, David E., An experiment quantifying the effect of clutter on target detection, 26
Schooler, Richard B., Calculated detectivity of Schottky barrier detectors (SBDs), 49
Schott, John R., Radiometric calibration and image processing of Landsat TM data to improve assessment of thermal signatures, 193
Shimer, Steven E., Inflight resolution evaluation for thermal imaging systems, 42
Smith, D. A., Performance improvements to the UK Class II common modules thermal imager, 113
Smith, D. S., Optimization of indium antimonide detectors for use at liquid helium temperatures, 21
Soifer, B. T., First scientific results from the Infrared Astronomical Satellite (IRAS), 84
Spellicy, R. L., Application of infrared spectroscopy for monitoring the performance of industrial flares, 184
Tilsley, G. John, Focal plane architectures and their applicability to advanced imaging seeker systems, 130
Walker, Russell G., On orbit performance of Infrared Astronomical Satellite (IRAS) (Cancelled), 229
Watton, R., Progress in IR television using the pyroelectric vidicon, 154
———, Technologies and performance for linear and two-dimensional pyroelectric arrays, 139
Weathersby, Marshall R., An experiment quantifying the effect of clutter on target detection, 26
———, Infrared flight simulation using computer generated imagery, 89
White, A. M., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
———, Photoconductive detectors employing an optically induced nonlinearity, 149
Wiemokly, Gary D., Spectrally selective shutter mechanism, 10
Wimmers, J. T., Optimization of indium antimonide detectors for use at liquid helium temperatures, 21
Wotherspoon, J. T. M., Developments in SPRITE infrared detectors, 102
Wreathall, W. M., Progress in IR television using the pyroelectric vidicon, 154
Zalewski, E., New technological opportunities for infrared radiometry (Cancelled), 229